GERRY LAMORTE

Custom Downstream Systems

Gerry Lamorte has been working in the extrusion industry for over 15 years. On 2010, he became the Service Director at CDS – Custom Downstream Systems. His expertise has contributed to the success of CDS; specialized in machine operation, electricity, industrial mechanics, and system automation.

He has also provided support to extruders on how to better operate their equipment and delivered technical training on how machines operate.

For the past 4 years, Gerry has received advanced training on machine safety and safety regulations. The training consists on conducting risk evaluation and reducing the operator risk factor.
